

Iacocca Global Village for Future Leaders 2019

Join a vital, growing, and enthusiastic group of 2183 young professionals from 139 countries around the world!

Would you like to build a global network in five intense weeks? Join 80-85 young global leaders from Asia, Europe, Africa, the Middle East, Latin and South America and North America as they gather at the Iacocca Institute for a life-changing summer.

- Receive in-depth training in leadership and entrepreneurial skills, business and industry knowledge, global networking and cultural understanding.
- Combine your learning experiences with the practical application of these innovative principles in real business.
- Work with an international team on a consulting business project for a local or international company, solving their problem in real time.
- Meet with some of the 60 high-level executives who participate daily to share business experience and lessons learned.

Global Village 2019 marks the 23rd year that Lehigh University's Iacocca Institute has offered its highly successful global leadership program, the Iacocca Global Village for Future Leaders.

In the global marketplace and in the international political arena, rapid change is an integral part of life in the 21st century. Applications are now open and we have begun our search for the next group of highly motivated, unique, and well-rounded individual leaders with vision and a sense of mission. If you see yourself as one of those who have what it takes to serve as an agent of change for your community...your country... your world, contact us to learn more about Global Village 2018.

GLOBAL VILLAGE 2019 will be held in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania
22 June through 27 July 2018.
